4855 957
1902
	CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE AGENCY
	CLASSIFICATION SECURITY INFORMATION REPORT
	RETURN INFORMATION REPORT	REPORT
		CD NO. 25X1
UNTRY	Korea	DATE DISTR. 19 September 19
BJECT	Communist Prisoner of War Exchange Center, Kaesong	NO. OF PAGES 2
TE OF	25X1	NO. OF ENCLS.
ACE QUIRED	25X1	SUPPLEMENT TO REPORT NO.
ND 794, OF THE ATION OF ITS C ROMISITED BY L	AV. THE REPRODUCTION OF THIS FORM IS PROMIBITED.
TION OF ITS C	Origin and Mission  In January 1952, a prisoner of war exchange center for Nations POW's and for the reception of Communist POW Kaesong at approximately 126-33, 37-58, BT-849054, but general headquarters. The POW Exchange Center was transportation, quartering, and feeding of both Unit POW's when they are repatriated after the termination	y the North Korean army ordered to prepare for the ed Nations and Communist
TION OF ITS C	Origin and Mission  In January 1952, a prisoner of war exchange center for Nations POW's and for the reception of Communist POW Kaesong at approximately 126-33, 37-58, BT-849054, but general headquarters. The POW Exchange Center was contransportation, quartering, and feeding of both Unit	y the North Korean army ordered to prepare for the ed Nations and Communist
25X1	Origin and Mission  In January 1952, a prisoner of war exchange center for Nations POW's and for the reception of Communist POW Kaesong at approximately 126-33, 37-58, BT-849054, begeneral headquarters. The POW Exchange Center was of transportation, quartering, and feeding of both Unit POW's when they are repatriated after the termination Personnel  The POW Exchange Center, which is attached to the Power North Korean army general headquarters, is staffed by North Korean IV Corps, and by some Chinese Communist missioned officers. The total strength of the Exchange Center and the strength of t	I's was established in by the North Korean army ordered to prepare for the sed Nations and Communist on of the truce negotiations.  Delitical Department of the by part of the 34 Regiment, 1 army officers and non-commune Center 18 643 men, 30 Chinese Communist officers;
25X1	Origin and Mission  In January 1952, a prisoner of war exchange center for Nations POW's and for the reception of Communist POW Kaesong at approximately 126-33, 37-58, BT-849054, begeneral headquarters. The POW Exchange Center was of transportation, quartering, and feeding of both Unit POW's when they are repatriated after the termination Personnel  The POW Exchange Center, which is attached to the Power North Korean army general headquarters, is staffed by North Korean IV Corps, and by some Chinese Communist missioned officers. The total strength of the Exchange Center and Chinese Communist non-commission of North Korean and Chinese Communist non-commission	I's was established in by the North Korean army ordered to prepare for the sed Nations and Communist on of the truce negotiations.  Delitical Department of the by part of the 34 Regiment, 1 army officers and non-commune Center 18 643 men, 30 Chinese Communist officers;
25X1	Origin and Mission  In January 1952, a prisoner of war exchange center for Nations POW's and for the reception of Communist POW Kaesong at approximately 126-33, 37-58, BT-849054, begeneral headquarters. The POW Exchange Center was of transportation, quartering, and feeding of both Unit POW's when they are repatriated after the termination Personnel  The POW Exchange Center, which is attached to the Power North Korean army general headquarters, is staffed by North Korean IV Corps, and by some Chinese Communist missioned officers. The total strength of the Exchadistributed as follows: 70 North Korean officers; 3300 North Korean and Chinese Communist non-commission Korean enlisted men.  Officers at the Center  The commander of the POW Exchange Center is Colonel of Chinese descent. The most important positions, wholding them, are the following: chief of Political	I's was established in by the North Korean army ordered to prepare for the sed Nations and Communist on of the truce negotiations.  Delitical Department of the property of the 34 Regiment, army officers and non-communist officers; and Chinese Communist officers; and Chinese Chi
25X1  2.  3.  6X1  6X1	Origin and Mission  In January 1952, a prisoner of war exchange center for Nations POW's and for the reception of Communist POW Kaesong at approximately 126-33, 37-58, BT-849054, but general headquarters. The POW Exchange Center was of transportation, quartering, and feeding of both Unit POW's when they are repatriated after the termination Personnel  The POW Exchange Center, which is attached to the Power North Korean army general headquarters, is staffed North Korean IV Corps, and by some Chinese Communist missioned officers. The total strength of the Exchange Statistical as follows: 70 North Korean officers; 300 North Korean and Chinese Communist non-commission Korean enlisted men.  Officers at the Center  The commander of the POW Exchange Center is Colonel of Chinese descent. The most important positions, wholding them, are the following: chief of Political MA Chae-su head of Lieutenant Colonel KIM Chae-kuk	I's was established in by the North Korean army ordered to prepare for the sed Nations and Communist on of the truce negotiations.  Delitical Department of the property part of the 34 Regiment, army officers and non-communist officers; and Chinese Communist officers; and Chinese Chines
25X1  2.  3.  6X1  6X1	Origin and Mission  In January 1952, a prisoner of war exchange center for Nations POW's and for the reception of Communist POW Kaesong at approximately 126-33, 37-58, BT-849054, by general headquarters. The POW Exchange Center was of transportation, quartering, and feeding of both Unit POW's when they are repatriated after the termination Personnel  The POW Exchange Center, which is attached to the Power North Korean army general headquarters, is staffed by North Korean IV Corps, and by some Chinese Communist missioned officers. The total strength of the Exchadistributed as follows: 70 North Korean officers; 3300 North Korean and Chinese Communist non-commission Korean enlisted men.  Officers at the Center  The commander of the POW Exchange Center is Colonel of Chinese descent. The most important positions, wholding them, are the following: chief of Political MA Chae-su head of Lieutenant Colonel KIM Chae-kuk the Labor Party Section, Major YUN Chu-ho	y the North Korean army ordered to prepare for the sed Nations and Communist on of the truce negotiations.  Dittical Department of the py part of the 34 Regiment, 1; army officers and non-commange Center 11s 643 men, 30 Chinese Communist officers; and 243 North  CHANG Pom, aged 40; a Korean with the names of the men Section, Lieutenant Colonel the Propaganda Section,

l R	X	fel
Appro	vec	l For Rele	ase	2006/04/20 : CIA-RDP82-00457R013900030001-8
	•			232623/

ARMY

X AIR

 Approved For Release 2006/04/20 : CIA-RDP82-00457R013900030001-8_	25X1
SECRET
-2-

Committee, which consists of six Chinese Communist officers and five North Korean officers. The committee is composed of eight sections: the Staff Section, the Guidance Section, the Prisoners Support Section, the Political Section, the Rear Service Section, the Propaganda and Agitation Section, the Labor Party Committee, and the Democratic Youth Alliance Section.

25X1 Comment. This office has no information confirming the existence of the 34 Regiment.